POETRY.

Are few, but deep and solemn, and they break Fresh from the fount of feeling.—Percival.

HE CAME TOO LATE.

He came too late! neglect had tried Her constancy too long; Her love had yielded to her pride And the deep sense of wrong.
She scorned the offering of a heart Which lingered on its way, Till it could no delight impart, Nor shed one cheering ray.

He came too late! at once he felt That all his power was o'er; Indifference in her calm smile dwelt—She thought of him no more.
Anger and grief had passed away,
Her heart and thoughts were free;
She met him and her words were gay, No spell had memory.

He came too late! the subtle chords Of love were all unbound—Not by offence of spoken words, But by the slights that wound, She knew that life held nothing now That could the past repay; Yet she disdained his tardy vow,
And coldly turned away.

He came too late! her countless dreams Of hope had long since flown—No charm dwelt in his chosen theme, Nor in his whispered tone:
And when with word and smile he tried Affection still to prove,
She nerved her heart with woman's pride,
And spurned his fickle love.

CHOICE READING.

"If you enlighten the people, do not forget that this is but half the work. Let them be made vicious and religious, or you leave them more exposed to danger than they were before."

POWER OF STEAM.

"Is it stame?" said an Irishman: by the saintly St. Patrick, "but its a grate thing, intirely for drivin' things—it put me thro nine states in a day!—not a word of lie in it."

"Nine States!" exclaimed a dozen is astonishment.

"Yis, nine of them, be jabers, as aisy as a cat 'ud lick her ear! D'yez see now: I got married in New York in the mornin', and wint wid my wife Biddy to Baltimore the same day—ould yer whit now, and count the States. There was the state of matrimony, which I interred from a single state, in the State of New York, and I wint through New Jersey, Pinskyane, and Delaware into Maryland, where I arrived in a most glorious state of jollification! There is nine, by the Rod of Moses—count 'm if yez like. Och but stame's a scrouger!"
—[Reveille.]

FUNNY.

Every one has heard of the old story about the recruit on sentry duty, and his innocent way of making known to a stranger the pass-word for the night. A similar incident actually occurred on Saturday night, on Governor's Island.

One of the fine regiment, popularly spoken of as Col. Stevenson's California boys, was put on guard by way of initiating him into the mysteries of a sentinel's duties.— With the pass word—"Newport"—were given to him strict injunctions to shoot the first man approaching or departing from, the island who did not pronounce the shibboleth of the hour. The raw youth shouldered his musket, and soon all sounds were hushed save the echo of his own solitary walk as monotonously he trod the beaten path. But anon the sound of footsteps and then a heavy plunge into the water caught his ear, and running to the spot he hailed in the direction of the sound,

"Hallo, who goes there?"
"A friend," was the prompt reply.
"Then if you be a friend, say Newport, or I will shoot."

Great was the laughter and not small the vexation of the sergeant of the guard, who was in the tent near the speaker. Of course he had to call in the whole of the guard and change the countersign.

[New York Com. Advertiser.]

SNEEZING.

We hope we may not be branded presumptuous, if in a matter of sneezing we pretend to be connoisseurs. As a proof of our taste, we hate one of your shivelling, dry, half-frightened to death sneezers; but for one of your full, clear, sonorous, detonating, reverberating explosions; one of those reports that set the wine glasses on the sideboard a jingling, and wake pussy; we say for one of these earthquake sneezes, we have a love inferior only to that which we bear for woman and—our favorite dog.
A sneeze to be in good taste, should crack like a rifle in a clear morning. A receipt for a sneeze of this genus is as follows: When you feel a tickling at the root of your proboscis just jump if you be seated, run to the window, through which the sun shines, throw your head back until the bump of philoprogenitiveness presses on your coat collar, open your mouth, snarl like a half starved hyena at a piece of fresh meat, inhale a deep breath, and then—blaze away.

The effect will be prodigious—an echo will salute you from the house-top over the way, and the good house-wives will order the clothes taken in, the game-cock will turn up the red of his eye at the sun, and you will have the assurance that you have not sneezed in vain.

STRUCTURES OF THE HUMAN BODY.

The essential tissue—distinct structures—of the human body, as well as of all animals, are three; the nervous, muscular, and cellular. The nervous tissue constitutes the brain and nerves; the muscular composes the flesh or lean fibres; the cellular, in different modifications, forms the connecting membranes, integuments, bones, cartilages, ligaments, tendons, &c. The muscular tissue is a higher grade of organization, and possesses the vital power of contractility, by which all actions or motions are produced. The highest arrangement of organized matter is the nervous tissue, its vital property is sensibility, by which feeling results. Thus simply and beautifully is the animal kingdom constituted for form, motion, feeling.

The Portland Bulletin advises women who would not have wrinkles in their faces "to cease fretting, murmuring, and repining.
Rise at early dawn, take the broom and sweep the floor, make the beds, and get breakfast. Such employment, with a cheerful heart, will keep you from growing prematurely old, and having your faces filled with wrinkles and scawls."

ANSWERED AT LAST. "May a man marry his deceased wife's sister?"

If she says "Yes" when the question is popped, we hold that he may—and more than this, if she be young, pretty, amiable, and accomplished, and necessary to his happiness, we think him a great fool if he don't.

An exchange says that restless and crying infants may frequently be relieved and quieted by a draught of cold water.

Who knows but this simple agent might profitably supersede both spanking and paregoric?
